Draft Minutes

The meeting started at 5:35.

Leppanen introduced USU extension agent Reagan Wytsalucy whose background includes organic gardening, many types of gardens, Native American food crops, sustainability, water and soil testing and more. She gave an overview of services, classes, and research she can bring to find a good fit for the town, Financial support from the Town would help with the basics and start-up. She will work on a survey of interest and involvement for the town that can be accessed from our website and get back to us with the results. More than two-dozen people attended.
